

DEADLINE TODAY FOR COVER GIRL CANDIDATES

Today is the deadline for organizations to turn in the names of candidates for 1945 La Torre cover girls all entries must be given to Barbara Lee Rico, or to the La Torre desk in the Publications office by 3 o'clock.

Deadline for entry photographs has been changed to January 3 because of difficulty in getting photos taken. Under this new ruling all entry photos must be turned in to the Publications office the first day of classes next quarter.

Three new names have been added to those vying for the cover girl titles. Joanne O'Brien has been put up by Spartan Spears; Rose Marie Amaral is being sponsored by Delta Beta Sigma, and Nancy Page is Beta Gamma Chi's candidate.

The new additions bring the list of candidates to seven, including Doris Snell, Sappho; Leslie Frusetta, Allenian; Roberta Ramsay, Ero Sophian; Margaret Hadlock, Zeta Chi; and Carol Johnson, Gamma Phi Sigma.

A full length photograph should be turned in with the entry photograph, according to Miss Rico, because full-length photos of the winners will be featured on the division pages of the yearbook. Feature pages will be styled to represent magazine covers characteristic of the section they represent, with contest winners as the cover girls. There will also be a special section for portraits of all winners.

Judges for the contest will be announced at a later date in the Spartan Daily.

DIRECTOR ASKS FOR ORIGINAL SKITS AND SUGGESTIONS

Student suggestions for skits, original music, and manuscripts for the 1945 production of Spartan Revelries may be submitted from now until the first Friday or registration week, which has been set as the positive deadline for contributions, according to Marian Jacobson, director.

Entries should be turned in to Miss Jacobson; Leah Hardcastle, business manager; Dr. Hugh Gillis, faculty adviser; or placed in the "R" box in the Co-op.

Other officials in charge of the annual winter quarter musical show, which is scheduled for March 9 and 10, include Carmendale Fernandez as assistant director, Dick Greulich as stage manager, Olga Popovich as dance director, Maurice Engleman as musical director, and Beverly Best as director's secretary.

Judging by the large number of students who have expressed interest in the show, Miss Jacobson expects to receive a considerable amount of student suggestion for the production. All ideas for skits, complete scripts, and original music will be carefully considered and we hope students will feel free to contribute, she states.

College Symphony Concert Tonight

Eagan Makes His 51st Appearance Before SJS Concert Audiences In Tonight's Autumn Symphony In Auditorium At 8:15

Thomas Eagan will raise his baton at 8:15 this evening in the Morris Dailey auditorium to conduct the college symphony orchestra in its autumn concert. It will be his fifty-first appearance before a San Jose State concert audience.

Mary Lee Herron and Ruth Cousins, sopranos, will replace Marjorie Black, who is indisposed and will be unable to sing. Miss Black had been scheduled to present two duets with Yvonne Dalis.

Following is the program for the concert:

Roman Carnival (Overture) Berlioz

Splagge Amate from Elena e Paride Gluck

Voi Che Sapate from Le Nozze di Figaro Mozart

Sull' aria (Letter Duet) from Le Nozze di Figaro Mozart

Sous le dome epais from Lakme Delibes

Faithful Shepherd Suite Handel

Symphony No. 5 from "The New World" Dvorak

Conductor Eagan comments that the Roman Carnival overture is not too easy for the group, but none the less effective. Berlioz, the composer of the number, is considered to be the man who developed the modern technique of orchestration. He was a sort of megalomaniac, who thought in terms of big numbers, and wanted an orchestra of 275 players. His typically 'thick' orchestrations reflect this passion.

"Handel, in contrast to Berlioz, shows in his Shepherd's Suite that he thought in terms of smaller numbers of players in an orchestra, because they didn't then have

ROBERT RAVEN TO VISIT HERE

Mr. Robert Raven, representing Veterans of World War II, will be on campus to discuss matters with any veterans wishing advice or answers to questions.

Mr. Raven will be here on the following days between 9:30 and 4:30: Thursday, December 14; Thursday and Friday, December 21 and 22; Thursday, December 28; Thursday and Friday, January 4 and 5; and Thursday, January 11.

ASB DANCE TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Bob Kent's orchestra will play and Milo Badger will sing a special Christmas number at the "Wintermist" dance Saturday at the Woman's club on Eleventh street from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Admission to the Christmas dance will be by ASB card, with a charge of 75 cents for those without student body cards. One member of every couple must be an ASB card holder. Souvenir bids will be given at the door.

A Christmas tree will complete the "Wintermist" decorations, which include greens and red berries bordering the room and stars on the walls. Decorations will really have that Christmas spirit, according to Elaine Chadburne and Bonnie Gartshore, decorations co-chairmen.

Other features of the intermission entertainment will be a marimba solo, and a comedy skit by Jo Hildebrande. This is the first formal of the year, and according to the Social Affairs committee it should be a big success.

Lowerclassmen Hold Mixer Friday

Concluding the Frosh-Soph mixer Friday, the lower classmen will hold a dance in the Women's gym from 9 to 12 o'clock. Entertainment will be presented by freshmen and sophomores.

Co-chairmen for the affair are Jerry Evans and Pat Keating. Activities for the men will be a tug-o-war, brawl, badminton, games, and a mixed softball team including five men. Heading the men's activities are chairmen Bill Shaw for the sophs and Walt Fletcher for the frosh.

For the women, activities will be a swimming contest, badminton games, and volleyball games. The women will also play five positions on the mixed softball team. Women activities are headed by Joanne O'Brien, soph, and Norma Garrison, frosh.

Bulletin!

The Fairfield-Suisun Army cagers exhibited too much class for Sparta's inexperienced basketball team last night and the locals went down to a 46-26 defeat in the State Pavilion.

Don McCaslin led the Spartan scoring column with nine points, but he was topped by three of the visitors. Lieut. Jim Oakley dropped in seven field goals and three free throws to win high point honors with 17, while his mates, Harmon and Meyer were responsible for 11 and 10 points respectively.

At half time the visitors led by a 35-14 score.

As a special feature of tonight's game with Alameda Air Station, Wilfred Hetzel, trick shot expert who claims 150 world's records for trick shots, will put on a special exhibition between games.

TOYS NEEDED BY SPARTAN DAILY FOR CHILDREN

With the approach of the Christmas holidays, the deadline for contributions to the Spartan Daily's tenth annual toy campaign for the children in the Santa Clara County preventorium draws closer.

Set for December 20, the deadline is expected to see the traditional pile of toys mounted well up into the branches of the Christmas tree in the Publications office. Although donations so far have been generous, the number of toys needed to give all the children a merry Christmas has by no means been reached.

Organizations and campus groups, as well as individuals, are urged to bring toys for the campaign as they have in past years. Donated playthings may be brought to the Publications office, where they will be placed beneath the Spartan Daily's tree.

Because the children are bed patients and convalescents, they require toys which may be played with in bed. Books, games, puzzles, stuffed dolls; and handcraft toys, such as sewing, weaving, and clay sets are all toys of this type.

Toys may be wrapped or unwrapped. If they are wrapped, they should be marked whether they are intended for boys or girls.

Broken or used toys may also be contributed. They will be turned over to the Salvation Army for repair and re-distribution among needy children.

Red Cross Cpts.

Will the following Red Cross captains come in on the hours scheduled today:

9:00 Jewel Davis
10:00 Kathie Landis
11:00 Barbara Keaton
1:00 Lola Portal and Jeanne Fischer
2:00 Averyel Brown
3:00 Virginia Miller

PEGGY SCRUGGS NAMED EDITOR OF SPARTAN DAILY FOR NEXT QUARTER

In confirming the appointment of the Journalism department the Student Council announces that the editor of the Spartan Daily for the next three months will be Margaret Scruggs, senior journalism major from Dinuba. Miss Scruggs has served on the Daily staff for three quarters and is now Associate Editor.

Elaine Chadburne was chosen by the council to become Pat Rhode's assistant on the Social Affairs Committee for the remainder of the quarter and to take over the duties of chairman during the winter. The appointment of a Rally Committee Chairman was postponed until the meeting on Registration Day.

Because of the great expense involved in providing for a kitchen in the Student Union, it was decided to temporarily abandon the plan.

Plans for building a new booth under the library arch are under way. The school janitors will be used and plans will be made for a substantial and attractive structure, it was stated.

Delta Sigma Gamma, social fraternity, made application to again become active, and their request was granted. It was also announced that the radios in the Health Cottage are being repaired.

Hugh Johnston reported that the juke box took in $11.60 last week and the fund now has a surplus of about $170.00. It was decided to use this money for lighting equipment.

The "lights on campus" project has been temporarily stopped because of lack of available help, but it will be resumed as soon as possible, according to Dr. Robert Rhodes, council adviser.

Spartans Play Alameda NAS Here Tonight

A return game with the Alameda Naval Air Station will be held here tonight in State's gym at 8 o'clock.

The first encounter saw the Spartan cagers go down to defeat by the score of 45-28. However, it was State's first game of the season and the Spartans were not quite ready for such stiff opposition. Since that time they have definitely improved their game, as their record will show.

A severe blow was dealt the Spartan basketball squad this week when it was announced that Ed Maggetti, star forward on the Spartan casaba team, will be ineligible this week. Ed will be greatly missed tonight for he has been a steady scorer in the past few games, getting 19 points against Tanforan last week.

With Maggetti out, the lineup will probably go something like this: Wilmer Melhoff and Angelo Arredondo at forwards, Don McCaslin at the pivot post, and Jack Marcipan and Ted Holmes at the guard positions. The scoring punch will have to be carried by Holmes and McCaslin, supported by Melhoff and Arredondo.

Spartan reserves who may have to be called on will probably include Bill Brown, Ernie Cartwright, Red Richardson, and numerous other capables.

Let's Support Them

We wonder what is happening to Spartan athletic enthusiasm and school spirit.

If you don't already know it, we'll tell you now. We have a good basketball team this year at San Jose State. A team that has met and defeated some very strong service teams. Still we fail to see a reputable rooting section to uphold those Spartans who are doing their best to sustain the athletic renown of San Jose State.

It seems that a small group of high school students are all who stand (or should we say sit) between the basketball team and an empty gymnasium. It might be different if we didn't have a winning club, but that is not the case. The Spartan basketball team has defeated Mare Island, Salinas Army Air Base, and Tanforan Naval Center. Besides these wins, they lost two games by one point, one to Hamilton Field, and the other to the Moffett Field Flyers.

Don't you think this is a fine record for an all civilian team that has been playing against seasoned veterans, most of whom have played college ball in recent years?

O.K. then, let's support them with the brand of spirit that men and women of Sparta are capable of displaying.

Brady.

FLOTSAM

By GLORIA TERESI

It is a little difficult to write in this position, stretched out under the copy desk, we mean. This is the state in which we find ourselves whenever that task known as "day editing" (polite term for, how to go mad in one easy lesson) falls to our lot. Day editing is a term bestowed upon the job of putting out one (1) edition of this journalistic hybrid, the Spartan Daily (be it ever so illiterate, we hope someone reads it).

On THE day, we find we have an over-powering urge to adjourn to the theatuh and escape. However, conscience, will-power, and that big, black whip in the hands of the editor finally persuade us that perhaps we should report for duty (similar to volunteering for a suicide assignment).

Entering the Pub office (a fatal step) we find, counting noses, exactly one — ours. Great! When the staff (bless their ill hearts) finally drifts in, one by one, we leave off chewing our nails, tearing our hair, and attempting self-strangulation with the window cords, and inquire in a low shout where have they been (or words to that effect), what stories they have, and if, by any chance, they intend to write them.

This of course leads to bloodshed, and after we report to the Health office for first aid, we return and start to "dummy in." The word "dummy," in this case, is so appropriate, and guess who fills the bill?

Dummying-in involves deciding what should go where in the paper, while fending off homicidally-inclined Spartans, all of whom would like "a big spread in tomorrow's paper." When drawing straws can't settle the controversy, we step outside and try throwing each other over the Pub office roof. Whoever lands the hardest is left there unconscious and the rest of us return and divvy up the space (our humanitarian instincts are so subdued as to be practically non-existent at this stage).

Finally, the happy moment arrives when the pages are dummed-in, the staff is sufficiently cowed to agree to write their stories, and a quick trip to the Co-op seems possible.

Said trip is merely wishful thinking, a mirage, a hallucination, in fact anyone mentioning it would receive the curt question, "What's the matter with you, crazy or something?" (Thanks to Professor Colonna for a useful phrase.) This is what is commonly known as the calm before the storm.

Approximately six and three-fourths minutes before the copy goes down to the print shop, at least ten people rush in with scoops, must-go stories, and such nerve-shattering stuff. After restraining our natural impulse to kill, we count slowly to one hundred, compress our lips tightly (no profanity in the Pub office — out loud, that is), and start erasing.

After wearing down two erasers, tearing the dummy sheets to shreds, and becoming completely befuddled, we finally decide that the modified dummy (no, not the day editor, we're still the same old one) is ready to leave.

The staff troops gaily down to

NEWS

Lt. (jg) Ben Johnson, '40, and Lt. (jg) Sid Webb, '41, brother APOs during their student days here, are brother officers on the same ship now. In fact, Lt. Johnson is the skipper and Lt. Webb the executive officer, and they have served in the Pacific for several months. Lt. Johnson, a former Spartan Daily staff member, is expected to be home by Christmas.

Now in England undergoing a pre-combat training period, 2nd Lt. Oren S. Dubois, '25, of Campbell, is preparing to take part in bombing attacks over Germany as co-pilot of an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress. Already trained by the AAF at flying schools in the States, Lt. Dubois is now getting the benefit of the combat experience of veteran flyers. His course of instruction includes advice on how to conduct himself if he becomes a prisoner of war, how to administer first aid to wounded comrades at high altitudes, and how to land his bomber in the sea if necessary. He is also flying practice missions in preparation for real bombing attacks.

Marine Capt. Melville B. Emerson, San Jose State student from 1935 to 1939 when he was commissioned in the Marine Corps, has been assigned to duty with the Engineer Battalion at Camp Lejeune, N. C. He recently returned from the Pacific theater of war after serving 25 months with the twice-cited Second Marine Division.

Sergeant Henry Walters, a former student here, has been returned from overseas and is now stationed at the Marine Corps Base in San Diego, awaiting reclassification and a furlough. A member of the Fourth Marine Division, Sgt. Walters served overseas for 28 months and participated in the invasion of Guam.

He was also stationed in the Russell Island, and at Emirau and Bougainville.

Among the members of the final class of Women Airforce Service Pilots (WASPs) who received their wings at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Texas, on December 7, was Florence Emig, San Jose High grad and former student here. Miss Emig is a veteran of over 1200 hours flight time and holds a commercial pilot's license. She was a flying instructor at Reno, Nevada, and Alturas, Calif., before beginning her WASP training at Avenger Field. She held the position of squadron commander—highest student office—at the field.

Pharmacist's Mate Third Class John I. Mahan of San Jose has been graduated from the field medical school for hospital corpsmen at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, and is now awaiting assignment to a Marine combat unit.

Lieut. Otis M. Kindale, former student from Oakland, has been transferred from the Carlsbad Army Air Field, Carlsbad, New Mexico, to Douglas, Arizona.

First Lt. Makelyn S. Neudeck, Women's Army Corps, has recently been assigned to Morris Field Army Air Base, Charlotte, North Carolina. While at this base, she will be a company officer doing administrative work. She attended SJS from 1938 to 1941.

Don Streepey, a former student at State and a member of DTO fraternity while here, was promoted from first lieutenant to captain about November 15, 1944. He is stationed in France with the Ninth Air Force.

Pfc. Louise Blanchard and Pvt. Amy Amizich are both stationed with the WAC at the Percy Jones General Hospital in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Corporal Jane Navarre Teubner, a former student here, is touring the Eastern Marine Corps bases and Chicago as saxophonist and clarinet player in the Marine Corps Women's Reserve band. Cpl. Teubner is a versatile bandswoman. She also plays the oboe, English horn, and piano. She was a member of the Maxine Broz All-Girl orchestra in San Jose. Corporal Teubner enlisted in the Women's Reserve in August, 1943.

"Fellow Spartans—

"Receipt of a batch of well-travelled October Dailies (Dr. Laton to my mother at Charlottesville, Va., thence to me) reminds me I should ask you to put my name on the list and get my Dailies direct from you-all. My address is:

Thornton Fitzhugh, S1c
Navy Box "H", NAS
Klamath Falls, Ore.

"This is a desolate part of the country—only one other Spartan about—Margie Brown, SK3c. Another San Josean, Ens. Don Andrews, was here, and if he is a Spartan, should have a gold star on the service flag. He was killed in a plane crash during a routine flight in the summer.

"As I said before, this is a desolate part of the country. Surprisingly so, since it's so close to California.

"Kalamity Falls is full of soldiers, sailors, and marines, and it's a genuine relief to get away to such relatively unsullied towns as Medford, Ashland, and Grant's Pass.

"Someone might possibly be interested in what I'm doing to help win the war. Just this: all day, I lie in my sack, and bat the flies, occasionally getting up energy to write a letter or go to chow. Two nights a week I go ashore to a dance. Two days out of every sixteen I limber up my right thumb and head for some fair-sized town to get away from it all. Rough life!"

(Signed) Very sincerely yours,

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

By WARREN BRADY

San Jose State's undefeated and untied grid team have been invited to two post-season games, according to head football coach Dud Degroot.

The first invitation was extended by Lawrence Sunbrook, sports promoter of Los Angeles, for the Spartans to face an outstanding eastern eleven in the "Olympic Bowl" on December 16 in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The second invitation was extended by the Athletic Round Table of Spokane, Washington, for the Warner-Degroot coached team to meet Gonzaga university sometime before January 1 for the independent championship of the Pacific coast.

In addition to these two offers, State officials are "eyeing" the Orange Bowl in Dallas, Texas. As yet no invitation has been extended the Spartans, but hopes are high.

The Spartan water polo team last week concluded a successful season, ending up with 8 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie. Spartans who deserve a lot of credit for the past season include: Captain Frank Savage, Martin Wempe, Claude Horan, Leon Sparrow, John Hatch, Dean Foster, Jim Curran, Dick Savage, and Bud Bergey.

THROUGH OTHER EYES

By DAVE WEBSTER

At the bottom of one column in a recent issue of the U of N "Sagebrush" was a line saying "Patronize Brush advertisers." Filler?

In last Friday's issue this pair of fillers appeared together: "When did you last buy war stamps? Read the bulletin board." ... and find out?

Here's another from the same paper: "Hen: the only creature which can sit still and produce dividends."

Did you know that if all the people that eat at boarding houses were put at one long table they would reach?

—The Athenaeum

The U of K Kernel had jokes way back in the days of the other great war, and they present these and other samples of what students then were supposed to laugh at.

Jack—"Bobbie, I'll give you a dime for a lock of Mary's golden hair."

Bobbie—"Make it a quarter and I'll get it all; I know where she hangs it at night."

Wise Professor—"It is evident that a part of my class always looks over their lessons; the rest over look them. And I just want to say gentlemen, that the first named are wise, the rest otherwise."

Don't you like that description of a professor, too?

The San Matean heard this story recently and published it.

During the action on Guadalcanal, a young Marine suddenly hollered loudly for help. "What's the matter?" cried a comrade, who was warily inspecting the nearby underbrush.

"Come quick!" came the voice. "I've got three Jap prisoners here—and they won't let me go!"

Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow — exams.

RULES ON USE OF SCHOOL EQUIPMENT FOR STUDENTS AND GROUPS RELEASED

The student body recently acquired expensive and good equipment for the use of campus organizations as well as the entire student body. Rules have been printed regarding the use of this equipment in order to extend the life of the college's materials. Dr. Robert Rhodes, council adviser, says in regard to the equipment and rules:

"We are buying good and expensive equipment because it's the only kind that is satisfactory. In turn, we expect it to be handled carefully by members of your organization. We ask that the president or secretary sign for it because those officers have convinced their organization members of their dependability. We do not necessarily expect these officers personally to handle the equipment but we hope that they will use good judgment in selecting people to care for it."

RULES

1. A list of available equipment shall be posted in the office of the Associated Students and filed in the Business office and shall be revised as necessary.
2. Equipment shall be stored by Mr. Byron Bollinger in room S-18 or elsewhere at his direction.
3. Requests for equipment shall be made to the Business office, which will issue memoranda to Mr. Bollinger authorizing its use. Each request must be signed by an organization president or secretary, or by the chairman of a committee directing an activity promoted by the council.

4. Only recognized campus organizations or faculty members concerned with official activities may use student body equipment. It may be used on or off the campus.

5. Requests for equipment must be made 24 hours in advance of the time at which it is to be picked up. It must be returned before 10 a. m. of the day following its use, except when used on Friday or Saturday, in which case it must be returned before 10 a. m. on the following Monday. Any failure to return equipment by the time scheduled shall be referred to the Student Court for appropriate action.

6. No charge for failure or breakage of equipment shall be levied unless there is evidence of carelessness. Should such be evident, in the opinion of Mr. Bollinger, a committee composed of a representative of the organization involved, the council member responsible for equipment, and Mr. Bollinger shall determine the charge to be levied to replace or repair the equipment. Flagrant cases may be referred to the Student Court.

7. The heavy P. A. system and the heavy lights may be set up and operated only by the operator appointed for this work. He may be engaged to operate other equipment if so desired by an organization. Responsibility for care of equipment lies with the operator when he is engaged for such services and the organization is freed from responsibility thereby.

To Obtain Grades

Students may obtain their grades in any of the following three ways:

1. Get an envelope from the table in front of the Business office, room 34, address it, and enclose five cents. Deposit the self-addressed envelope in the box on the table by Thursday, December 21.
2. Bring a self-addressed stamped envelope and deposit it in the box on the table outside the Business office, room 34, by December 21.
3. Call for your grades at the Registrar's office, Thursday, December 28, or thereafter.

Grades will be withheld for students who owe fees or library fines, or who have not checked-in college equipment.

Thrust And Parry

Dear Thrust and Parry,

It seems as though San Jose State college missed its cue for nation-wide publicity through the recent "Smokeless Thursday." There is no doubt in the minds of probably the entire student body that our Alma Mater could have been put "on the map" if proper sources were informed of the details of this sensational idea. However, it seems very strange indeed, that, from some source, all due and proper publicity was restrained.

Perhaps I have not the foresight to understand how any possible harm could have come to the college through the release of this story along the proper channels; however, I would like very much to be enlightened as to what harmful effects might have been produced.

If we want to expand our college, give it prestige, and create an abundance of school spirit among the students, why should good publicity ideas be held "under the carpet?"

Hockey Spread Held Last Week At Spartan Stadium

Women participants in the annual fall quarter hockey spread could have had free mud baths by playing on the San Carlos turf last Thursday evening, but since they wanted a "clean" game, and saw a chance to build up their resistance at the same time, they hiked to the Spartan stadium and played three exciting games of hockey.

Juniors conquered the frosh, 5 to 1; seniors beat the sophs, 1 to 0; and in the play-off game, juniors and seniors tied.

After the games, a huge bonfire was built and food was served to the starving participants. Entertainment was provided by the various P. E. major classes. As soon as the laughter died down, the Spartan hymn was sung, bringing the spread to a successful conclusion.

Art Department Receives First Nazi Souvenirs Here

SJS Art department has recently been the recipient of souvenirs of the Nazi occupation of Paris, through the courtesy of Miss Doris Robinson of the Placement office, who received the souvenirs from Lt. Delbert E. Williamson, former San Jose State college student.

As far as is known, these are the first authentic souvenirs to reach San Jose State college from the German front.

The souvenirs consist of three volumes of beautifully printed pictures depicting Nazis in action. Undoubtedly, the magazines were printed on the presses which formerly were owned by the "L' Illustration," since the format is almost identical to that used in the publication of "L' Illustration."

the instruments. His compositions are more light and tender and classical in spirit.

"The New World" symphony was started while Anton Dvorak was visiting this country early in the century. There has been much argument as to whether the themes are taken from Indian or Negro primitive music. The simple themes take a little from both, and depict the primitive but beautiful music of early Americana."

WAC FILM SHOWN ON THURSDAY

"To the Ladies," an approved U. S. Army Signal Corps film, will be shown on the San Jose State campus at 12:30 on Thursday, December 14, in lecture room 112 of the Science building. The student body is cordially invited to attend.

"To the Ladies" shows vividly, the essential part in the drive to victory that WACs serving with the U. S. Army Medical Department are doing both in the United States and abroad. It shows the medical and nursing service which WACs perform not only as our wounded men's bodies become well once again, but also as their minds and spirits heal.

The Army today has an urgent need for WAC enlisted personnel to serve with the Medical Department in many fields, including occupational therapy, psychiatric therapy, physiotherapy, laboratory technical work, X-ray technical work, and dental technical work. So great is this need that the Army is giving women who qualify and are selected a specialized training in these fields in the Army's medical schools at Camp Atterbury, Indiana, or at Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver Colorado.

In conjunction with the showing of "To the Ladies," Sgt. Ralph C. Willhauk and Cpl. Jeanne Haggin, representatives from the U. S. Recruiting Station, 214 New Post Office building, San Jose, will be present to answer any questions regarding the current Army's medical technician training program.

the Co-op and all is serene. The day editor picks himself up off the floor, gazes glassily off into space, and in addition to repeating over and over, "I should have stood in bed," and "I hate life!" and "Oh, to be a welder," begins dreamily slitting his throat and slashing his wrists.

This of course is an exaggerated picture of day-editing. Don't think for one minute that those blood-curdling screams you hear coming from the Pub. office mean anything. Everything in here is just plain peachy. Blub, blub, blub (noise made while applying the fingers in rotation to the lips). We're not crazy. Oh no, we're just day editors. We always shake this way.
